U.S. Secretary of the Interior Dirk Kempthorne Visits
Motorcoach Manufacturer Country Coach, Inc.

July 13, 2006, Junction City, Oregon - Country Coach, Inc. (CCI), a highline motorcoach manufacturer celebrating 33 years in the recreation vehicle industry, today hosted a visit from U.S. Secretary of the Interior Dirk Kempthorne. Secretary Kempthorne arrived with his staff with the start of Country Coach's first manufacturing shift at 7:00am PDT, visited with Company President Jay Howard, and joined in an extensive tour of the process of building and testing a luxury diesel motorcoach. On completion of the tour, the Secretary took time to tour some completed motorcoaches, and decided his favorite of the coaches on hand was the 2007 Allure 400 Series, featuring the 42' Siskiyou Summit floorplan.

Country Coach President Jay Howard welcomed Secretary Kempthorne, and personally conducted the facility tour. "Visiting with the Secretary, I was pleased at his knowledge of and enthusiasm for our luxury motorcoaches, and for the recreational vehicle industry as a whole," stated Mr. Howard. "It should be encouraging for our industry peers, as well as our motorcoach owners, to see an official at such a high level of our federal government recognize the value in the recreation experience we deliver."

Mr. Howard also noted Secretary Kempthorne's passion for ensuring that efforts continue to further accommodate motorcoaches and other RV's in our National Parks. "Our customers and Secretary Kempthorne obviously hold in common their love of the outdoors, and of our great land. He is a motorcoach owner himself, and shared with me his interest in balancing accessibility with the purity of our National Park experience."

Country Coach manufactures highline motorcoaches in lengths ranging from 34 to 45 feet. These 102-inch wide-body diesel pusher engine luxury coaches include the Inspire, Allure, Intrigue, Magna, Affinity, and Country Coach Prevost
